

1. Design your own dragon. Think about:

1. What it looks like?
2. Does it have a job or something that it is good at?
3. What special features does it have?

2. Write a fact file about your dragon. Can you describe it using adjectives?

Write me at least 4 descriptive sentences.

Example: My dragon is an ice dragon. His breath is made from snowflakes. He is made from ice and snow and sparkles with stardust.

3. Make a dragon out of recycled materials.

10. Write a book review of one of your favourite dragon books.

Remember to tell me:

The title of the book, why you liked the book and what happened in the book.

9. Read lots of different dragon themed books and story books. Here is a list of a few:

Zog, Dragon post, The Great Dragon Bake Off, Puff the magic dragon, There is no dragon in this story, How to catch a dragon, My Father's Dragon, Dragons Love Tacos, There's a Dragon in your Book.

Write which ones you have read in your reading log.

8. Create a dragon out of your hand prints, feet prints and finger prints.

7. Make some dragon toe biscuits and decorate them.

4. Design and make a trap to capture a dragon outside.

5. Write a set of instructions to go with your dragon trap.

Make sure you describe how to make your trap, how you get them in the trap and what materials you need.

6. Go for a walk looking for dragon clues in your neighbourhood. Take photos of the clues you have seen and describe why it is a dragon clue.

Strange footprints, large holes in the hedges.
